About Conference :

The increasing global and multicultural world has rendered translation as more and more significant both as an actual, material practice and as a cultural phenomenon to be analysed. Translation studies is an academic inter-discipline dealing with the systematic study of the theory, description and application of translation. As an inter-discipline, translation studies borrow much from the various fields of study that support translation. These include comparative literature, history, linguistics, philology, philosophy, semiotics, terminology and many more.

Translation is a kind of activity which inevitably involves at least two languages and two cultural traditions." (Toury 1978:200). It is understood that translation is an act of carrying the meaning of a text from one language to another. The whole process includes the interpretation of meaning of the source text and producing the same meaning in another language. Context of the text is very important and here context means the entire environment in which the word or sentence is expressed or stated.

This Two-Day Conference will enable the scholars, teachers and students to meet and interact at a common platform and exchange their ideas on translation studies. The conference themes will revolve around, but will not be limited to, the following issues :

- Translation techniques
- Value education, culture and translation
- Cultural and ethical problems of translation
- Theatre and translation
- Major vs. minor cultures in translation
- Translation from/into indigenous languages
- Audio-visual translation for the impaired
- Translation for migrants, refugees and the exiled
- Translation as ethical practice
- Minority languages and translation
- Film Adaptation
- Television Adaptation
- Translation of Indian Literature into English
